

1 into court, and punishment might follow.

2 I can't believe this is what you meant, but it
3 could really be read that way.

4 THE PRESIDENT: Delegate Boyer.

5 DELEGATE BOYER: You are absolutely right, sir,
6 and to relieve any question about the case of this matter,
7 the intent is that the person tried upon impeachment, whether 8 or not convicted, will still be liable for criminal prosecution 9 and will not be given any immunity because of the 10 fact he had not been convicted of impeachment, immunity,
11 that is, from any criminal prosecution.

12 THE PRESIDENT: Is it intended that the phrase
13 "shall be liable" would mean may nevertheless be subject
14 to criminal prosecution and punishment? Is that the intent,
15 Delegate Boyer?

16 DELEGATE BOYER: Yes, that is. The intent is 17 not to grant any immunity for criminal prosecution in 18 the future for anybody who may have been not convicted of 19 impeachment proceedings.

20 THE PRESIDENT: Not suggesting that 21 precise language as desirable language to use, but would